

SHORT STORY

PIZZA FOR DINNER

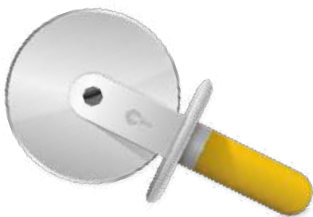

My wife and children always say: “Dad, you’re the pizza king!” It’s my job to make pizzas, usually on a Saturday evening!

I have an excellent recipe to make the base. An old friend gave it to me and it is fairly easy.

We usually make two different pizzas. I put tomato paste on the base. Then come the toppings. For the one pizza, I use tuna, onion, and green pepper. I put olives, avocado, basil leaves, and salami on the second pizza. Sometimes I make a third pizza with only spinach and feta cheese as toppings. Lastly comes the cheese. I also serve garlic on the side which can be added to the pizza.

I am good at making pizzas. I use the oven to bake them and then I cut each into slices by using the pizza cutter. Saturday evenings we do not enjoy dinner in the dining room. We sit at the kitchen table which is very informal. Everyone talks about their past week, etc.

My daughters love eating the leftovers the next morning. My wife and I always sleep in on a Sunday morning and don’t worry about making breakfast!

Pizzas are easy to make and much tastier when you make them yourself!
