

Fill the gaps. Australia

VOLUNTEER WORK

care skills stalls stable elderly staples located running connect maximum

Volunteer on a farm in Australia – requirements & tasks

Little Oak Sanctuary provides refuge for farmed animals from backgrounds of abuse, neglect, and abandonment. Set on 273 acres amidst stunning Australian bushland, we _____ for over 300 animals at any one time. The sanctuary is _____ an hour from Canberra and around two & a half hours from Sydney. We have sheep, goats, pigs, horses, cows, alpacas, geese, turkeys, chickens, ducks, and quail at the sanctuary. You'll be working for 25 hours a week with 2 days off with the day-to-day _____ of the sanctuary. Duties can be somewhat tailored to your _____ but may include: undertaking the twice-daily feed runs (morning and afternoon), daily cleaning of _____, poultry coops and yards, undertaking health checks, some maintenance work, and assisting with the care of ill, _____ and baby animals, Gardening/ fence maintenance/other projects, Helping with market _____ and events.

Volunteer on a farm in Australia – what we offer

Our new Cottage is compact but well-appointed. It features two bedrooms sleeping a _____ of three people (plus two extra roll-out single beds in the lounge room), a living space with a dining table, couch, and television, a bathroom with shower and a kitchenette with fridge, convection microwave, toaster, kettle, and sink. A Digital TV device is provided enabling you to _____ your Netflix, Stan, or other subscriptions. Free WIFI (Starlink) is provided and we have plenty of bush for bushwalking and a creek with a great swimming spot for when it is hot.

We can provide basic food _____ (pasta, rice, tinned foods, etc). You are free to make your meals however we do ask that helpers do not bring animal products onto the sanctuary given the nature of our work helping farmed animals in need (we are a vegan sanctuary).

<https://freevolunteering.net/>

<https://freevolunteering.net/volunteer-farm-australia>

Teacher's Key

Volunteer on a farm in Australia – requirements & tasks

Little Oak Sanctuary provides refuge for farmed animals from backgrounds of abuse, neglect, and abandonment. Set on 273 acres amidst stunning Australian bushland, we care for over 300 animals at any one time. The sanctuary is located an hour from Canberra and around two & a half hours from Sydney. We have sheep, goats, pigs, horses, cows, alpacas, geese, turkeys, chickens, ducks, and quail at the sanctuary. You'll be working for 25 hours a week with 2 days off with the day-to-day running of the sanctuary. Duties can be somewhat tailored to your skills but may include: undertaking the twice-daily feed runs (morning and afternoon), daily cleaning of stable, poultry coops and yards, undertaking health checks, some maintenance work, and assisting with the care of ill, elderly and baby animals, Gardening/fence maintenance/other projects, Helping with market stalls and events.

Volunteer on a farm in Australia – what we offer

Our new Cottage is compact but well-appointed. It features two bedrooms sleeping a maximum of three people (plus two extra roll-out single beds in the lounge room), a living space with a dining table, couch, and television, a bathroom with shower and a kitchenette with fridge, convection microwave, toaster, kettle, and sink. A Digital TV device is provided enabling you to connect your Netflix, Stan, or other subscriptions. Free WIFI (Starlink) is provided and we have plenty of bush for bushwalking and a creek with a great swimming spot for when it is hot.

We can provide basic food staples (pasta, rice, tinned foods, etc). You are free to make your meals however we do ask that helpers do not bring animal products onto the sanctuary given the nature of our work helping farmed animals in need (we are a vegan sanctuary).

<https://freevolunteering.net/>

<https://freevolunteering.net/volunteer-farm-australia>