

DEBATE

1. Modal Verbs Practice

Debating with Modal Verbs (must, should, could)

Group 1: Pro Homework

We must have homework to reinforce learning.

Students should do homework to practice what they learn in class.

Teachers could give interesting assignments that make homework fun.

Group 2: Against Homework

Students must have free time to relax and pursue hobbies.

Homework could lead to stress and burnout.

Schools should focus on learning during school hours.

2. Conditional Sentences

Debating with Conditional Sentences

Debate topic: "If we use renewable energy, we will save the planet."

Each group creates arguments using first, second, and third conditional sentences.

First Conditional

If we use renewable energy, we will reduce pollution.

If everyone switches to solar power, we will see a significant drop in emissions.

Second Conditional

If we invested more in renewable energy, we would save money in the long run.

If people understood the benefits, they would be more supportive.

Third Conditional

If we had started using renewable energy earlier, we would have prevented much of the damage.

If governments had prioritized clean energy, we wouldn't be facing such severe climate issues.