

MUCH & MANY

A. Time Traveler's Shopping List (Past, Present, Future)

Imagine you are shopping at different points in time! Fill in the blanks using much or many with the correct verb tense (past, present, or future).

Fill in the Gaps

1. Yesterday, I _____ (buy) _____ apples, but not _____ milk.
2. Right now, I _____ (have) _____ oranges, but I don't have _____ butter.
3. Tomorrow, I _____ (get) _____ more juice and _____ bananas from the market.

Pair up and pretend you are time travelers! Ask and answer questions using much or many with different tenses.

Example: What did you buy last week? → I bought many tomatoes but not much sugar.

What will you get tomorrow? → I will buy much more rice and many eggs.

B. Shopping Memory Challenge (Past Tense)

- Start with the sentence: "Yesterday, I bought..." and list three items using much or many. Your partner repeats the list and adds one more item.
- Whoever forgets an item is out!

Example

Student 1: "Yesterday, I bought many cookies, much coffee, and many carrots."

Student 2: "Yesterday, I bought many cookies, much more coffee, many carrots, and much more butter."

C. Fortune Teller Game (Future Tense)

Students take turns being fortune tellers, predicting what their classmates will buy next week. Use much or many with future tense (will + verb).

Example Sentences

1. "Next week, you _____ (buy) _____ apples and _____ sugar!"
2. "I think you _____ (get) _____ oranges but not _____ coffee."
3. "Tomorrow, I _____ (need) _____ milk and _____ pens for school."

The "customer" must agree or disagree and respond in future tense!

Teacher's Key

A. Time Traveler's Shopping List (Past, Present, Future)

Fill in the Gaps

1. Yesterday, I bought many apples, but not much milk.
2. Right now, I have many oranges, but I don't have much butter.
3. Tomorrow, I will get much more juice and many bananas from the market.

C. Fortune Teller Game (Future Tense)

Example Sentences

"Next week, you will buy many apples and much sugar!"

"I think you will get many oranges but not much coffee."

"Tomorrow, I will need much milk and many pens for school."