

DEALING WITH CYBERBULLYING

Part 1: A Letter from Li Na

The Situation: Read the letter below from a teenage girl named Li Na from Beijing. She is writing to the AI for help with a problem.

Dear AI,

I hope you can help me with a difficult situation I am having at school. I feel sad and embarrassed, and I don't know what to do.

A few weeks ago, I posted a picture of my new haircut on my social media profile. My friends said they loved it, but then a group of older students from another school started leaving mean comments on the photo. They said my hair looked silly and made fun of my clothes. The comments were not very nice at all, and they wouldn't stop.

Every time I open my social media, I feel worried and scared. I deleted the photo, but now they are posting mean comments on my other photos too. I have told my parents, but they just said to turn off my phone. I feel like it's my fault.

My friend, Ethan, says I should report them to the social media company, but I am scared they will find out it was me and make things even worse. Is there anything I can do?

Sincerely,

Li Na
