

I HATE CLEANING MY ROOM

My Room, My Rules

Part 1: Write Back to the AI

Write a short reply (80–100 words) to the AI's advice.

Options:

- Agree or disagree with the tips
- Add your own cleaning hacks
- Complain more (politely!)
- Say thank you and describe your progress

Sentence Starters:

"Thanks for your advice, but..."

"I tried the 10-minute challenge and..."

"My cleaning style is different. I usually..."

"I still hate cleaning, but now I..."

Part 2: Partner Speaking – "Roommate Rules"

In pairs, imagine you share a room. Agree on 5 cleaning rules.

Support Language:

- Imperatives: "Don't leave socks on the floor."
- Frequency adverbs: "We clean the desk every Friday."
- Modals: "We should take turns vacuuming."

Part 3: Design a Cleaning Poster

Create a mini poster with 3 cleaning rules and 1 funny warning.

Example:

Rule 1: Put your clothes in the basket.

Rule 2: Clean your desk before sleeping.

Rule 3: No food under the bed.

Funny Warning: "Messy socks may attack!"

Part 2: Partner Speaking – “Roommate Rules”

Sample Rules

1. Don't eat snacks on the bed.
2. We clean the floor every weekend.
3. We should take turns doing laundry.
4. Don't leave wet towels on the chair.
5. We organize the desk every Monday.

Part 3: Design a Cleaning Poster

Check for correct use of imperatives

Encourage creativity and humor

Posters can be shared or displayed
