1. Grammar Focus – “Going to” & Present Continuous for Future

Examples from the picture:

- Tomorrow I’m going to work.
- This Saturday we’re playing soccer.
- Next week she’s buying tickets.
- Tomorrow evening I’m meeting my friend.

2. Practice

Activity A: Complete with “going to”

1. Tomorrow I _____ (go) to work.
2. She _____ (meet) her friend in the evening.
3. We _____ (play) soccer this Saturday.
4. They _____ (visit) their grandparents on Sunday.
5. Next week she _____ (buy) tickets.

Activity B: Choose the correct form

1. This weekend I (am going to / am going) the beach.
2. Tomorrow she (is meeting / is going to meet) her friend.
3. Next Friday we (are traveling / are going to travel).

Activity C: Make questions

1. (you / what / do / tomorrow?) _____ ?
2. (she / go / shopping / this weekend?) _____ ?
3. (they / visit / family / next week?) _____ ?

3. Short Answers

1. Are you going to work tomorrow?
→ Yes, I _____. / No, I _____.
2. Is she going to the beach this weekend?
→ Yes, she _____. / No, she _____.

Grammar Tip:

- be going to = plans & intentions
- Present Continuous = fixed arrangements (especially with people)

Teacher Notes

Focus more on natural speaking than on the difference between the two forms. Drill “What are you doing tomorrow?” and “I’m going to...” strongly.
