1. Look at the Flyer

Answer the questions.

1. Which item is the most expensive at the original price?
2. Which item is the cheapest at the sale price?
3. How much can you save on the jeans?
4. How much can you save on the jacket?
5. Which items are 40% off?
6. You buy a T-shirt for $12. How much was the original price?
7. You buy two T-shirts. How much do you pay if the second T-shirt is 50% off?
8. Which item would you buy?
9. What would you not buy?
10. Is the sale good for customers? Why or why not?

2. Ask Your Partner

Look at the flyer and ask questions.

Try to use:

- “How much is the...?”
- “How much was it before?”
- “How much can you save?”
- “Is this one on sale?”
- “What size is available?”
- “What would you buy?”
- “Which one would you choose?”

Now ask your partner three questions of your own.

REAL ENGLISH BOX

In a real shop, people often say:

“How much is this?”

“How much was it before?”

“Is this on sale?”

“How much can I save?”

“Do you have this in a larger size?”

These are simple, natural ways to ask about prices.
